

Civilian Defense Temper Rises and Falls With War News

Program of Defense Group Taking Form

Directors of the Lemon Grove Civilian Defense Disaster Control met on Tuesday in the school cafeteria.

Mrs. Marian Batchelder, director of Welfare, reported that all names taken from the bulletins which were sent home by the school children, and filled out by the parents, have been classified, and that volunteers for the various services will be contacted in the near future by the directors. These lists are on file with the directors, and in the office of the Chief of Civilian Defense at the Lemon Grove School.

Volunteers for Home Nursing classes are requested to contact Mrs. Roy Winton, H 6-1056. The registered nurses will probably be mobilized through their own organizations. It is thought that in case of disaster, there will be so few doctors available that it is deemed advisable to train many housewives in home nursing, which in all probability will have to take the place of treatment by a regular physician. As soon as there is sufficient interest displayed, a class in home nursing will be set up, either at Lemon Grove or Monterey Heights schools, or possibly at both places.

Constable Rigley, director of law enforcement, reported that there will be classes announced very shortly for the training in law enforcement activities, under the county-wide plan.

Because of the fact that the new fire fighting equipment has still not arrived, there is a delay in volunteer training classes. Mr. Anderson, Director of Fire Fighting, said that as soon as equipment is at hand, the training classes will be announced.

Solleder, director of first aid, and school training program, stated that there are at present six first aid classes in progress. There is one morning class, two in the afternoon and three in the evening, with additional classes being set up to begin this week. For further information, interested persons may call either of three local schools. The seventh and eighth grades have been studying "Survival Under Atomic Attack," and expect to start a 12-hour basic first aid course next week. Pupils throughout the school system are being instructed and drilled in what to do in case of emergency.

All school children will remain at school in accordance with the State plan, until the all-clear signal is given. Parents are requested to remain in their homes and listen to their radios, rather than to try and pick up their children at the schools. There will be adequate supervision of school children to insure their safety while at school and traveling to and from school. The importance of keeping the roads clear, and the telephone lines open for necessary calls cannot be overstressed.

On Monday evening, B. L. Netzel attended a meeting of the Service Club Presidents' Council at the House of Hospitality in Balboa Park. A projected plan is to set up a training session for a speakers' bureau, the first session to be held next Tuesday, at 7:30 p. m. in the Puppet Theatre in Balboa Park. There are to be two representatives from each Service Club, who will hear Captain Pitts discuss "Radiological Defense." At the conclusion of a series of lectures, the representatives will

by Mae Rex Graham

Thanks for the kind words of those who missed our column last week.

Trying to produce a newspaper, short of help and under adverse conditions is not always the easiest way of serving your community.

It takes so many kinds of stories to make a balanced newspaper. If you have a lot of church news (which we always want to have) some one pipes up that we have turned our paper over to the churches.

If you proudly print a lot of stories telling of the big business opportunities in your town, you are a braggart or have an ax to grind.

If you miss a story that a local booster turns over to an out of town paper, you are asleep at the switch or not on the beam.

Then you get to feeling sorry for yourself, and that's bad!

Then you have an assignment to interview some one who has lost the dearest thing in their life and your troubles are trivial.

Going into the home where tragedy struck so swiftly this week we are awed by the courage and bravery with which the parents of Carolyn Cazort met their loss.

To raise a child to lovely young womanhood—virtuous, kindly, exceptionally talented, loved by all—and then to have her snatched away so grimly, that tries the worth of which these folk are made.

In the presence of these young parents, void of bitterness in their hearts, facing life again with gratitude to the many who have been kind to them, our troubles become trivial.

be available to any local group and prepared to give intelligent information regarding defense against radioactivity.

Said Mr. Netzel, "Emphasis was given to the importance of genuine, serious-minded participation in disaster control work. A half-hearted approach on the part of volunteer workers would defeat the whole purpose of the State plan. If this plan is to succeed, it must be carried out with full scale vigilance and co-operation. It should be considered as the best possible insurance against disaster."

Adults to Tackle Teenage Problems

Responding to an invitation to meet with the Control Board of Community Center last Friday evening, representatives from 11 organizations were present, including members of Norel Evorg Teenagers.

The discussion centered around what could be done for the young folks and what they in turn, as good citizens, could do for the community.

The Board recommended that the organizations take turns in sponsoring a Saturday night meeting and that parents be present as chaperones at the meetings.

The Board also decided that some improvements should be made in the building, asking organizations to help with certain projects.

Equipment desired by the teenagers consisted of a music box, tumbling mats, volley ball and net, basket ball and baskets, boxing gloves, bars for jumping, ping pong table, other gymnasium equipment and a juke box.

George Barker, 1591 Central, formerly with the physical education department of State College, has offered to supervise the group each Saturday night, providing parents will co-operate by chaperoning. Mr. Barker has had experience with Boy Scouts and teenagers.

Baker Writes of Cairo and the Ancient Egyptian Pyramids

Kelvedon, Essex, England
February 8, 1951
Dear friends: We arrived in Suez at the head of the Red Sea and entrance of the Suez Canal early in the morning of January 30.

Four of us, a young man from Malta, a young lady, daughter of an English Baronet, a young man from Ireland, and I hired an American car with an Arab driver to take us to Cairo, the capital of Egypt.

The 90-mile trip was through typical desert country. We saw several caravans of camels, led by Arab drivers. At one place we passed a road construction crew—Arabs in long motherhood-like gowns—were carrying gravel in wicker baskets and dumping it into a big concrete mixer.

At 9:30, we reached the top of the hills to the east of the city where we had a grand view of the metropolis of two million people and two pyramids beyond.

As we entered the city, the streets were teeming with life. There were actually thousands

The second sectional meeting of the Junior Red Cross representatives of the Grossmont district met on Monday afternoon at the Lemon Grove School, Room 25, on February 19, with Miss Lavancha Bauman, district chairman, leading discussion of spring plans for American Junior Red Cross in the schools. The agenda included the mapping of the annual fund campaign, to be conducted this year at the same time as the senior drive. This time change in the junior drive was affected to avoid interfering with the Community Chest campaign in December. The slogan adopted this year is "Every Child a Member." Those students who are unable to contribute money will be given an opportunity to enroll through services rendered. Campaign dates are March 1 to 15.

Mrs. H. L. Arnett, of San Diego Headquarters, spoke to the representatives on the importance of strengthening world friendship through international correspondence albums. Classes will begin work on these albums next month. Other projects for local hospitals and children's homes are planned. Wanda Turner, eighth grade student of Lemon Grove, who is the district delegate, will complete plans for this work through the student council representatives and other school delegates.

Schools attending the meeting were Lemon Grove, Monterey Heights, Vista La Mesa, Bostonia, Santee, and Casa de Ora. Others attending from Lemon Grove were Mrs. Iris Ritchie, Mrs. Margaret L. Darroch, Miss Elizabeth Whalen, Gloria Castellanos, Sharon Ewers, and Leah Conlee.

S. K. Solleder and J. Milne Given PTA Life Honors

S. K. Solleder and John Milne were awarded honorary life memberships in the Parent-Teacher Organization at the Founders' Day program at the Lemon Grove School cafeteria last Thursday evening. Each year the P-T-A. offers these memberships to people who have been outstanding in contributions toward the welfare and happiness of our children. Pins were presented by Mrs. B. L. Netzel, chairman of the award committee, who explained the significance of these membership funds used to assist worthy students in educational pursuits.

Special guest speaker of the evening was Lewis Smith, Superintendent of the Grossmont High School district who explained how double sessions will be conducted there next year, and discussed the new Helix High School now under construction on University Avenue. A question and answer period followed his address.

Mrs. J. Gilbert Durham, chairman of the evening's program, presented nosegays to Mrs. O. C. Psenninghausen, oldest grandmother present, and to Mrs. R. C. Taylor, Mrs. J. W. Burgeen, and Mrs. H. D. Pendergrass, mothers with the greatest number of children.

In recognition of past services, Mrs. Clyde Hardy presented novel corsages to all past presidents at the meeting during annual roll call. Those honored included Mmes. Hal Crow, Charles Brown, B. L. Netzel, J. G. Durham, Walt Denlinger, J. V. Stafford, and Franklin Pierce.

The program included a playlet, directed by Mrs. Margaret L. Darroch, "Our Founders Built Well." The cast included Peggy Lester, Karen Dawson, Shirley Quist, Beryl Scott, Margaret Moranville, and Sonia Friedericksen, all of the 7-1 class. Minnie Gregory, fifth grade student, entertained the group with an accordion solo, and the Lemon Grove School Ensemble, directed by Paul Cheatham, sang "My Johnny Was a Shoemaker." Girls in the ensemble were Barbara Ropp, Naomi Goyne, Marilyn Bunch, Mona McIntosh, and Barbara Balch. Mrs. Ada Krinsky, accompanied by Mrs. Loy Holmquist on the piano, led community singing.

Upon entering Grossmont High in 1949, Carolyn joined the senior orchestra where she has since had first chair in violin. She has also occupied that position in the string ensemble. Carolyn had a quiet, loving nature that made her popular with all who knew her.

The large number of floral offerings at the memorial service gave mute testimony of the high esteem in which she was held. A lovely tribute from her associates in the school orchestra and band was a large floral violin.

Besides her parents she is survived by three sisters, Alice 12, Dolores 2, and Elizabeth 2 months old. An uncle, J. V. Cazort lives in Lemon Grove.

Relatives from out of town who attended the services were her grandmother, Mrs. Daisy Cazort and aunt, Mrs. Charles Rowland of Little Rock, Ark.; her aunts, Mrs. Maxine Carder and Mrs. Ora Stuckey, Elizabeth, N. J.; Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Bizzell of Salt Lake City, Utah; aunts, Mrs. C. M. Light of Holtville, and Mrs. Ruth Cafferty of San Diego, and uncle, W. C. Cazort of San Diego.

To the family goes the deepest sympathy of the entire community in the loss of one so bright, so highly esteemed, so unjustly missed in her home and school.

Young Couple Killed on Trip to Arizona

This community was shocked and grieved when word was received that lovely Patricia Carolyn Cazort, 15 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd B. Cazort, 1705 Elroy, had been killed in an automobile accident early Saturday morning.

Also killed was Clyde Edwin Marsh, 17, the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Cliff V. Newbury, 1455 Avocado St., Bostonia.

Early in the school year, Carolyn and Clyde became friends at Grossmont High. On Friday evening they started out in a car driven by Clyde and for some reason unknown to Carolyn's parents, kept on driving.

About 1:30 Saturday morning they passed a Greyhound bus about 25 miles west of Casa Grande, Ariz. driving at a terrific speed. A short way beyond the bus driver saw the wrecked car and stopped to find both lifeless forms. Some kind person wrapped Carolyn's body in a blanket and the bus went on to inform the Highway Patrol of the accident.

Memorial services were conducted for Carolyn at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday in the Chapel of Roses, Glen Abbey, by the Rev. Floyd Pittman of National City.

Viola solos were played by Miss Doris Alderman and Miss Katherine Smith, of the Grossmont High orchestra.

Body bearers were six classmates: Joe Meza, Ernie Koehler, Joe Magiori, Kenneth Polk, Rodney Jensen and Adolph Robles, all members of the orchestra.

Patricia Carolyn Cazort was born May 2, 1935 in Little Rock, Ark. When two years old, she came to San Diego with her mother to be near her father who was in the U. S. Navy.

The family moved to Lemon Grove in 1944. When Carolyn entered Lemon Grove School she became a member of the orchestra playing the violin. She was a music protégé of Paul Cheatham, music director.

Upon entering Grossmont High in 1949, Carolyn joined the senior orchestra where she has since had first chair in violin. She has also occupied that position in the string ensemble. Carolyn had a quiet, loving nature that made her popular with all who knew her.

The large number of floral offerings at the memorial service gave mute testimony of the high esteem in which she was held. A lovely tribute from her associates in the school orchestra and band was a large floral violin.

Russia Woos Iran

IT IS NO secret that the key to Soviet Russia's war-making ability is oil. It is also no secret that Russia does not have sufficient oil to continue a war for more than two or three months. Thus she must get more oil before she starts hostilities.

This is why the little country of Iran, a land of nomad tribes and vast oil reserves, may be the key to future peace.

Should Moscow be able to take over Iran's priceless oil fields, she would not only have enough oil to wage war, but would also have access to the Indian Ocean through the Persian Gulf. This would probably mean that India, Arabia, and the near east eventually would become Sovietized.

In view of this, the uncensored news of what is happening in Iran today is extremely important.

This news is that Moscow is waging a quiet and extremely effective campaign to take over Iran by friendly infiltration. Simultaneously, the United States has so bungled its diplomacy—including our failure to put through a $25,000,000 loan—that Iran is on the verge of tossing aside its traditional friendship with the U.S.A.

Unquestionably what Russia is aiming at is envelopment of Iran by peaceful means. To do otherwise would ruin the oil supply. For any armed clash over Iran would bring about bombing and the demolition of Iran's oil fields, thus defeating Moscow's chief reason for taking over the country.

The Soviet strategy, therefore, is to have Iran nationalize her oil fields, then hire Russian experts to "advise" on oil well operation.

U. S. Bungles

This strategy has made much more progress than most people realize, and has been speeded up by the following factors:

1. When Iran faced a famine in 1948-1950 we hemmed, hawed, and delayed about sending wheat. Meanwhile, our reputation as a humanitarian nation vanished.
2. The Anglo-Iranian oil company, owned by the British government, has operated as if Iran were a colony.
3. We have sent Iran considerably less military and economic aid than her neighbors.
4. The $25,000,000 loan extended by the Export-Import bank has so many conditions attached that the Iranian parliament will probably veto it.

U.S. Ambassador Henry Grady has been pounding Washington corridors trying to pry loose the $25,000,000 in a hurry. He is getting nowhere fast.

Meanwhile, Iran has cut off the Voice of America, has given free play to the Voice of Moscow, and has negotiated a new trade treaty with Russia, giving favorable treatment to Iranian products. In brief, Moscow has found that friendship pays, and is working at it overtime.

Di Salle Jibes Senators

Jaunty Prime Administrator Mike Di Salle won the toughest committee in congress over to his ideas on price control the other day. "Do you figure on controlling all prices, or a few?" the ex-mayor of Toledo was asked by members of the joint economic committee.

Mike thought it over, then replied: "I asked that question of a farmer friend of mine and he said his granddaddy told him: When you cut a cat's tail, you should cut it off right at the body, because if you try to cut it off an inch at a time, you'll have a sore tail and a mad cat. I think he's right."

Asked by Senator Taft what he thought controls would do, Di Salle answered: "It's like driving along at 60 miles an hour, and suddenly you see a red light and you try to stop. You'll go 30 to 60 feet before you come to a stop."

Another time Di Salle was asked where he would get his staff to administer prices.

"We get civil service as far as we can," replied Di Salle. Then glancing at politically minded senators who incessantly clamor for jobs, he said: "Of course, some of the people in congress have been kind enough to recommend people to us."

Before Di Salle left the stand, he dropped a word of caution: "We're going to try our best, but even with that and more we can't buy a steak in 1951 with the money we paid in 1938."

Alienating Voters

Here is how not to get re-elected: A group of Montana farmers found Sen. Zales Ecton, himself a Montana farmer, in a grumpy mood the other day. As they were ushered into his office, Ecton courted angrily:

"I wish you people would quit bothering me. I wish you would leave me alone, so I can get constructive work done with some of my fellow senators." Without a word, the farmers walked out.

Jeff and Dempsey Agree

THE FAR-AWAY PAST moves up with today in laying down a heavy barrage on the boxing game of 1950 and 1951.

Jack Dempsey, among others, has been outspoken in his criticism. There is another old-timer out here at Burbank who was a pretty fair heavyweight in his day and time. He is now 76 years old and he has already beaten one tough rap from being paralyzed. His name is James J. Jeffries, and he won the heavyweight championship from Bob Fitzsimmons just 52 years ago.

Jeff picked up this crown in his 11th professional fight, an astonishing performance when you figure the deep value of experience in boxing. But Jim Jeffries was probably the finest athlete that ever won and held the title. He was over 6 feet tall and he weighed around 212 pounds at his best fighting weight. But he could run the 100 in 16 seconds and he could high jump close to 6 feet.

There are many who still think that the Jeffries of 1903 was the greatest heavyweight of them all. His unfortunate return to the ring—fat, partly bald and out of condition, removed part of his earlier greatness, just as Joe Louis is slowly shaking off of his earlier fame by his later performances.

Jeffries, like Dempsey, can't see the present crop of fighters. "They are not willing to train or learn," he said. "They don't know what hard work means—I mean such things as five or ten miles on the road every day, long before a fight. Jim Corbett trained and worked over eight hours a day, before he fought me at Coney Island. Few of these fellows today get in the shape needed to make a fighter."

I saw Jeffries work out around 1903. At that time there was no other fighter in the world close enough to make a contest. He was big, fast, strong—a high class boxer and a hard puncher. But above all you couldn't stop him with an ax. He was far improved over the showing with Sharkey and his first fight with Corbett. Gentleman Jim told me years ago in their second meeting that Jeffries was the better boxer.

The old fellow still has Jeffries Barn with its amateur fights, its wrestling and its training center at Burbank. But it's a far call to his Fitzsimmons fight in 1899. A trifle better than half a century. And that's a long time in the fight game. Ask any fighter.

There are still more ex-heavyweight champions left than ex-presidents. For one thing boxers get started in their 20's. Presidents are usually 50 or 60. It takes longer to make a President than it does a champion.

The last today from ex-champions shows Jim Jeffries, Tommy Burns, Jess Willard, Jack Dempsey, Gene Tunney, Jack Sharkey, Max Schmeling, Primo Carnera, Max Baer, Jim Braddock and Joe Louis.

This makes a total of 11 survivors. Since the reign of John Lawrence Sullivan which lasted until 1892, only Jim Corbett, Bob Fitzsimmons and Jack Johnson have passed from this hectic earthy show. All together, including John L. Sullivan, there have been 16 heavyweight champions of the world. Erard Charles is the last on the list.

Who is the best of the lot? Suppose we arrange them in order—Jack Dempsey must be set on top as the best offensive fighter of them all.

Jack Johnson heads the list as the greatest defensive ringman. Jim Corbett was all odds the best boxer.

Gene Tunney was the best trained. Jeffries and Dempsey were the hardest to hurt.

Both Fitzsimmons and Louis were a strong mixture of good boxing and hard hitting. Jim Braddock rated high in the matter of ring courage. You can't say too much about the others. Max Baer could have been a great champion if he had liked his game. Max didn't. These sixteen champions form a strange human medley. They take in all the better-known types. None of them are alike. But that is what makes the sport interesting.

The Lemon Grove

Baseball's best pitcher over the last three years is now working his system into shape swinging at a golf ball and traveling many miles a day over various Los Angeles courses. You may recall the fact that Lemon is baseball's only big league pitcher able to win 20 or more games the last three seasons. Lemon blew himself to 23 games last season but with any luck he might easily have reached 30.

STAGE-SCREEN-RADIO

"COUNTER-SPY", now heard on

Thursdays at 9:30 p.m., EST, on NBC, is the first of the major network programs to combine, on a permanent basis, lively entertainment with on-the-hour reports of the latest measures for national defense. In keeping with the recent national emergency edict, Phillips H. Lord, the program's creator, made immediate plans to mold the half-hour drama toward a vigorous awakening of the public to defense problems. Don MacLaughlin continues to star as "David Harding", chief of the U.S. counter-spies. The new series will keep the public aware of the work of U.S. agents in foreign countries and also here.

Dinah Shore will have real opportunities for acting as well as singing in "Aaron Slick from Punkin Creek", as a young widow on whose farm oil is discovered. She is teamed with comedian Alan Young and opera star Robert Merrill, with whom she will sing a delightful score composed by Evans and Livingston, who wrote "Mona Lisa" and "To Each His Own."

Smiley Burnette, co-starred with Charles Starret in Columbia westerns, has taped a series of radio recordings of all 140 of the songs he has composed for them; he will also record dozens he used with Gene Autry.

On the March 7th broadcast of "Portia Faces Life" the woman of the week to be saluted will be Miss Jessie Binford, executive director of the Juvenile Protective Association of Chicago. For more than 50 years she has fought the battles of juvenile delinquency; officials estimate that she has saved more than 75,000 youngsters from lives of crime and misery.

Six important roles in the Pine-Thomas "Crawwinds", on location at Homosassa, Fla., were awarded to members of the Tampa, Fla., Little Theatre; other natives of Tampa and nearby cities will round out the cast.

With Gordon MacRae, Jack Smith and Rosemary De Camp all on weekly radio shows, shooting schedules on Warners' "On Moonlight Bay" are tough to plan. MacRae's on "Railroad Hour", Rosemary on "Dr. Christian", Smith on three a week.

Humphrey Bogart and Lauren Bacall will co-star in a transcribed radio series, "Bold Venture", beginning March 26. The title is the name of a boat. In a scene already finished, Bogart listened to the explosive roar of the boat's engines as enthusiastically supplied by the sound man and said, "The way this boat speeds, people will wonder if I'm Humphrey Bogart or Guy Lombardo."

Jane Greer, star of RKO's "The Company She Keeps", has gone in for painting parties, specializing in bold primitives of horses. The group she's doing now will ornament the plate rail in the playroom of her Brentwood home.

Juliet Colman, aged 6, recently made her debut as an actress in the role of a candy cane, in a show at the Westlake school for girls. Her parents, the "Halls of Ivy" Colmans, wonder if it's her first step on the road to fame.

Larry Puck, production manager for Arthur Godfrey and his "Talent Scouts", answered a phone in the studio the other night and found Arthur was on the other end. The connection was so bad Puck asked "Where are you calling from, Mars?" "You're not far off," said Godfrey. "I'm in a plane 5000 feet above Richmond, Va." Which was just where he was.

ODDS AND ENDS . . . Jack Bailey's tour of 10 major cities with his Mutual "Queen for a Day" has been set to start in April, with the troupe returning to Hollywood in May . . . James Stewart has been signed by Universal-International to star in one of their biggest forthcoming productions, "The Hunt of the Snake", a dramatic story of the Northwest . . . All Hollywood seems to be painting these days, so Gene Nelson joined in, but not on canvas—he started painting his recently purchased home.

WASHINGTON'S REPUBLIC

Almost with an air of smug self-righteousness, it has become fashionable of late in some quarters to debunk the legends of George Washington and other great national leaders. But comfortably, in a way, the more the debunking process goes on, the more most people respect their national heroes, both as leaders and human personalities.

In George Washington's case, the more his life and deeds are discussed, the clearer becomes one fact—his integrity and sincerity of purpose. Washington put this nation above all else, above self, above party and above petty factionalism.

In contrast today, from the happenings in the Nation's capital, it seems distressingly true that personal consideration, partisan favoritism, the lust for private or political gain take precedence with many. Some of America's leaders evidence so little faith in the system of government that Washington was so largely responsible for that at the first sign of trouble, they want to drop it in favor of the totalitarian system from which Washington helped spare us.

The republic of Washington, it should never be forgotten, was evolved in a time of crisis the like of which this Nation never has and probably never will experience again. Let's not so betray ourselves by thoughtless action that Washington, were he able, would disown the Nation he fathered.

SEVEN STATES TO GO

Democracy can take a new lease on life after the 22nd

Amendment becomes a part of the Constitution. With 29 out of 36 States Legislatures reported having ratified the proposed amendment to limit the Presidency to two terms—only seven more are needed to write the amendment into law this year.

States already on record clearly demonstrate that the will of the majority of the American people is overwhelmingly in favor of the limitations of presidential tenure. The Constitution wisely rules that three-fourths of the States must ratify an amendment before it becomes law, and the sound course, in this instance, would appear to be for the remaining State Legislatures to put a "do pass" on the two-term limit.

Sparks

FROM THE NEWS CIRCUIT
JAMES DORAIS

Sometime soon, the U. S. Senate will be asked to approve a treaty permitting legislation to abridge the freedom of the press, even though that basic freedom is guaranteed by the Bill of Rights.

Soon, too, the Senate will consider ratification of a treaty that would supersede the expressed prohibition, also found in the Bill of Rights, against laws regarding religion.

Both treaties are sponsored by the United Nations. The first, purporting to guarantee freedom of the press among member Nations, actually would sanction government control of the press. After defining press freedom, the document states that freedom is subject to numerous limitations, including such ambiguities as "expressions which promote disorder," "expressions which are dangerous for youth" and "expressions which are injurious to the fair conduct of legal proceedings."

Hugh Baillie, president of the United Press Association, has pointed out that clauses such as those quoted above "would be used by governments that do not believe in a free press, to legitimize curbing the press in their countries and to impede the operations of the press in other countries."

Another UN sponsored treaty, the international Covenant on Human Rights, declares that "freedom to manifest one's religion or beliefs shall be subject only to such limitations as are pursuant to law and are reasonable and necessary."

The 1st Amendment of the Constitution of the United States forbids Congress to enact laws restricting either freedom of the press or freedom of religion. What difference would it make, then, should the Senate approve the UN treaties?

Apparently a great deal of difference. For the Supreme Court has ruled that treaties, once ratified, become the supreme law of the land and permit Congress to pass laws that otherwise would be declared unconstitutional.

Congress passed a migratory bird law in 1913 which the Supreme Court ruled unconstitutional on the ground that the subject came under State rather than Federal jurisdiction. Lobbyists for the measure circumvented the decision by persuading the President to negotiate a treaty with England on migratory birds, which was original law which the Supreme Court then upheld because it implemented a treaty.

California's Alien Land Law was ruled invalid last year because it conflicts with an international treaty, the United Nations charter.

To advocates of world government, the treaty method must appear as a likely path to that goal. It should be clear, however, that basic American freedoms will be trampled down along the way.

Political Parade

CLEM WHITAKER, Jr.

Money, more than a billion dollars of it, promises to be the biggest subject of discussion when California's Legislature reconvenes March 12—and the money talk will wax hot with little doubt throughout the 104 legislative days still allowed the solons by law.

To the roughly 10 million tax payers, budget wacky residents of the State, the Big Argument boils down to a rather simple formula: One billion in State expenditures will demand that every man, woman and child in the State cough up $100 to pay the bill! For every ten million dollars more or less appropriated, the bill will rise or fall a dollar per person.

As every taxpayer knows, the State can figure ways to spend

10 million dollars in this day and age hardly without blinking an eye.

The primary problem to face the State's returning lawmakers is Governor Warren's $1,016,000,000 budget for the 1951-52 fiscal year. It has been introduced already, and fiscal experts report that while anticipated revenue from current taxes is not quite enough to meet it, federal aid and a couple other items will hold the budget in balance without additional State taxes.

If spending stops at this point, the average cost of State Government per person will be $101.60 for the year—$406.40 for the normal family of four, husband, wife and two children.

Anything approved by the Legislature not already included in the budget means more money will have to be raised. For the record, if many of the key spending measures included among the 5320 proposals pending before the Legislature get an okay, the cost of government in California is going up—fast.

For instance: Increased and more liberal public assistance, pensions, etc., is being proposed. To open up new categories of aid will send public assistance costs soaring. California already pays out far more than any other State in the Nation, including New York, for public assistance—the cost, the State Chamber of Commerce reports, account for 29 percent of all State expenditures!

On another front, numerous State bond issues are being proposed—new highway, State building construction and improvements, community redevelopment, veterans bonus and so on. These measures hit over the billion dollar mark by themselves. The cost of many bills—like increased school assistance—is yet to be determined.

Measure after measure must be decided upon, some good, some bad—most expensive. On top of all comes civilian defense—estimated among one hundred million up. Money—all yours, so far. That's undoubtedly going to be the undertone, overt one and whole tone in Sacramento come March 12.

Words of Wisdom

"I am convinced marijuana and heroin are as easy to get as chewing gum, if you have the money." Dorothy Lamour, Hollywood film star—"The American man is the nicest, kindest, sweetest guy in the world—he doesn't have to kick women around to prove he's a male."

Stanley A. Weigel, S. F. atty.—"Three perils beset America: Communist aggression, World War III, and a growing resignation that another world war is inevitable."

Herbert C. Hoover, Palo Alto—"The only way out of elective office is to get sick or die or get kicked out."

Douglas Clark, London Editor, in Calif.—"There really is no such thing as public opinion in America—in the tidy British sense of the word."

Sew and Save

San Diego County women are learning how to make rayon dresses by time saving methods.

One hundred women have enrolled under the leadership of 21 local project leaders for classes in "Making a Better Dress."

The project leaders and women enrolled for the lessons on sewing will meet February 23, at 10 o'clock in the Agricultural Extension Office, 4005 Rosecrans, for a preliminary planning meeting. Women interested in enrolling in these classes should contact Mrs. H. E. Stadie, Talbot 1-7511.

Avocado Growers Annual Institute

The 1951 institute for San Diego County Avocado Growers will be held in the Grammar School at Escondido on Saturday, March 10, beginning at 9:45 a. m. A program is being arranged that should appeal to all avocado producers. This annual meeting is sponsored by the Avocado Department of the Farm Bureau, cooperating with the Agricultural Extension Service. Department chairman Robert Sharp of Vista extends an invitation to everyone interested in avocado production to attend.

The morning portion of the program will include talks on marketing, weather modification, salinity and diseases. Discussions in the afternoon session will be on cultural topics, with special reference to the care of young avocado groves and a question and answer period.

Ten avocado varieties have shown promising production characteristics in recent years in a continuous orchard research project at the University of California Citrus Experiment Station.

They are the Regina, Emerald, Halsted, Hass, Irving, Nowels, Zutano, Ryan, Clifton and Duke. Objectives of the project are to select and develop varieties favorable to production of one of California's important specialty crops. The work dates back over 30 years.

First avocado variety orchard was planted at the station during the period 1919-23. It included about 30 named varieties, considered most promising at the

IF YOUR DOG Has Bad Habits

Killing Chickens

Some dogs develop a liking for chicken killing. So, if it has happened again that King has gotten hold of one, take the dead bird and tie to King's collar so that it hangs awkwardly between his front legs and reminds him of its presence at each step. Then lock him up for at least a day or two. Meditating alone all day, with a dead chicken tied to his collar, he will soon come to the conclusion that poultry better be avoided. This method incidentally can also be used if he digs up flowers or rose bushes. Discipline him with the flowers he has dug up, then keep them tied to his collar for a good while.

Excessive Barking

Quite frequently, when a new pup comes to the farm, loneliness and new surroundings may make him howl all night. To break this, make him comfortable on good bedding in his own quarters and confine him during the night. Then put some of your used clothing with the dog along with a ticking

Effective Cough Syrup, Home-Mixed for Extra Economy

Saves Big Dollars. No Cooking.

This splendid recipe is used by millions because it makes such an effective medicine for coughs due to colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it. It's so good to mix—

From any drugist get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial irritations.

Then make a syrup with two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of rough medicine, very effective and quick-acting, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and children love its pleasant taste.

This cough syrup takes hold of roughs, gives quick relief. It loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes, helps clear air passages. Money refunded if Pinex doesn't please.

FOR EXTRA CONVENIENCE GET NEW READY-MIXED, READY-TO-USE PINEX!

DO YOU HATE CHANGE OF LIFE? and HOT FLUSHES?

Do you suffer from hot flashes, nervous tension, upset, emotioning due to functional "change of life" (38-51 years)—that period when fertility ebbs away, when untoward symptoms of this nature may betray your age?

Then start taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. No other medicine of this type for women has such a long record of success. Taken regularly, Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against this annoying middle-age distress. Truly the woman's friend.

Note: Or you may prefer Lydia E. Pinkham's TABLETS with added iron. Any druggist.
